Paradise.
Edward Hills visited at Scotch Hill Saturday.

Miss Annie Hollenbaugh, of Wishaw, visited Miss Tena Strouse Sunday.

James Irvin and James Hays, of Big Run, visited J. M. Strouse Sunday.

It seems like old times to see Rev. Hicks standing in the M. E. pulpit again. George Hollenbaugh, of Scotch Hill, was a visitor at Allen Cathers' Sunday.

P. M. Syphrit, of Homestead, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Syphrit.

Mrs. Lydia Deemer, who was at Homestead a month, returned home Monday evening.

Miss Tressa Syphrit, who has been visiting at Homestead, Pa., one month, returned home Monday.

Scott Syphrit has moved into his house at the Syphrit mine. Scott intends digging coal this winter.

There was a corn husking at John Lot's Friday evening. There were quite a number of persons present.

Miss Edna Holman, of Sykesville, who has been visiting in this place two or three weeks, returned home Saturday.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church will hold an oyster supper in the near future. The time has not been set yet.

A number of the young folks of Paradise attended the "pic social" at the Pifer school house Friday evening and ate of the good pies the young ladies had taken there. The morning was fast approaching before some of the boys got home.

Rural District.
Wm. Norris purchased a new buggy.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dickey drove to Falls Creek one day last week.

Miss Etta Brumbaugh visited her aunt Miss Lizzie Bollinger last week.

Elmer Ritenour and Mary Dilmor visited friends in this place one day last week.

Autumn is here in its serene and yellow leaf. Summer with its dog-days and red-hot nights has slipped away. The festive fly, that has been a source of great trouble by day, and the musical mosquito which sang about our couch through the long hot nights, have flown to warmer climates.

IN A COAL MINE.

For genuine pleasure and instruction nothing can equal a trip through a coal mine. No better mines than those in the vicinity of Reynoldsville could be found for just such a journey.

Through our principal's generosity the Senior Class was afforded the opportunity for making an inspection of the black diamond halls beneath the ground. So on Friday evening about half past six o'clock the start was made in a wagonette. The mines were reached sometime after 7 o'clock.

It might be well to describe a few of the party, before they enter in the mine, as after they come out they will not be recognizable. Prof. Bower in an army fatigue suit and straw hat presented a soldierly appearance before entering, but on coming out his pretty visage was blotted out behind a veil of black soot. Prof. Lenkerd, with a white collar and necktie, looked more like a preacher than a coal miner. His reappearance showed his collar to be spotted freely with a raven gloss; his face was bedaubed in very artistic style. The editor-in-chief with a sweater and gum boots presented the best garb for digging, but it was more adapted to digging in a ditch.

The female members of the party, Oh! how I would like to give you a description of them, but as space does not permit, it is impossible. For once did the "shorties" get the best of the remaining part of the class. They never needed to bend their backs. If some minstrel manager had been about he could never have found a better stock of "Pecaninies" and "Topsies" than the girls in the party.

The variety that a mine affords is one of the chief beauties. First a ride in the "horseless carriage" for about a mile, then onto the "cable line" for a distance, then get off the cars and take "walker's hack" to see the sights on the "streets" where the cars don't run. By the way, a word about those cars. The benches in the bottom, when the soft side of a hemlock board was turned up, made a very comfortable seat.

After the haulage engines and "iron men" had been inspected, the start for the surface was made. Prof. Bower served as a headlight and no accidents occurred. So we came into the moonlight again about 10 o'clock.

The big fan, compressors, engines and boilers, and all things interesting about a mine, were visited.

Professor having brought his camera, a flash-light was taken, but he thinks himself that plate will be no good as there were no good reflecting faces.

The jolly party then started for home, after a trip that will not be forgotten by the participants for many years to come. About 11 o'clock the lights of the old town greeted us again, but not for sometime after this did our welcome beds receive us, for "Cleanliness is next to Godliness."

LOCALS.

The following officers were elected at the regular business meeting of the Shakespearean Literary Society: President, Clara Geisler; Vice President, Hattie Schultz; Secretary, Maud Hoon; Critics, Frankie King, Prof. Lenkerd, Etta Millire; Program Committee, Katie King, Edna Myers; Editor-in-Chief, Lois Robinson; Assistant Editor, Christine Brown; Local Editor, Florence Stone.

We, who have served in the capacity of editors for the BULLETIN the last month, resign our present positions, some of us to enter higher fields. We wish to thank the contributors for their help. So we give our positions to the more capable.

Some of the Seniors say they are going to get another male member for the class. The reason is plainly seen; they would not need to sharpen their own lead pencils.

The Seniors are nearly all Sunday school teachers. As a result the morals of the class are of a very high standing.

Sabbath School Teacher: Who is the president of the U. S. Y. Scholar: Prof. Lenkerd.

The Senior Class and a few friends visited the Big Soldier mines Friday night.

Salle Montgomery was in Falls Creek the latter part of last week.

The Literary Society has resumed its old-time activity in elections. Clement Flynn is again a member of the High School.

The schools had their picture taken last week.

The local editor was in DuBois over Sunday.

The editor-in-chief was in Rathmel Sunday.

Tick, tock, goes the—Clock—forevermore.

EMERICKVILLE.

School Teacher and Bride Serenaded—Other Personal Mention.

Mrs. L. H. Sowers, the bride who has been visiting friends at Falls Creek since that golden hour on Oct. 7th, returned to this place Saturday evening. She was met at the station by her husband, who had returned on the previous Monday, and the young couple were driven to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Schugars, where a crowd of about seventy-five people awaited their arrival. No sooner were they landed than the roaring of the seashell, the tinkling of the cowbell and hammering of circular saws began. This kind of a noise was more than a school teacher could stand and the young couple concluded to give themselves up. Congratulations were then in order, after which sufficient money was handed the captain and the crowd retired to C. A. Burkhouse's grocery, where all had a merry treat.

The brick works of Meredith Bros., at Camp Run, which had been idle for the past three weeks undergoing some repairs, resumed work again Monday morning and those employed there from this place are again happy.

Rev. D. H. Leitzell, of Brookville, will preach in the Lutheran church at this place next Sabbath, Oct. 22nd at 2:00 p. m. All are cordially invited to attend.

George Kane and wife, of Patton, Cambria county, spent part of last week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kane.

M. A. Baughman and wife, of Big Run, spent a portion of last week with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Moore.

John Hatton, our west end merchant, was confined to the house a few days last week with an attack of quincy.

O. F. Haines was called to Hawthorne last Wednesday on account of the serious illness of his sister, Gertrude.

Moses Mowery and family, of Shamokin, Northumberland county, are visiting relatives in Emerickville.

Mrs. Joseph Gibson and her son, Samuel, of McKeesport, spent several days with friends here last week.

Lewis Franklin Baum, who spent the past two months herabouts, left for the west last Wednesday.

Mrs. Monroe London, the recent bride, is confined to her home with a slight attack of typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. John Martz were at Ringgold Sunday attending the funeral of the former's father.

Glenn Emery, of Pittsburg, spent Monday with his parents in this place, returning Tuesday.

E. Weiser is at Pittsburg the present week transacting business and taking in the exposition.

Mrs. John Markel, of Knoxdale, was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Burkhouse.

Mrs. Samuel Fike, of Knoxdale, visited relatives and friends here last week.

Mrs. William Rhoades, of Reynoldsville, is visiting relatives here.

Joseph Ishman and wife, of this town, visited at Fuller Sunday.

Joseph Stormer, sr., is moving to Salem, Ohio, this week.

Rathmel.
A surprise birthday party was held at the residence of John Walker Saturday evening last in honor of Mr. Walker's sixtieth birthday. There were about thirty friends present who presented him with a very nice chair. Supper was served at nine o'clock. The evening was spent by singing, recitations, &c., friends leaving at twelve o'clock, wishing him many more happy birthdays.

The Henry mines have shut down for an indefinite time. As they were not getting any flats to load, Henry Bros. thought best to shut down altogether and give the men a chance to get work elsewhere.

Rev. C. H. Frampton has been appointed pastor of the Methodist church and Elder F. B. Hawk has been returned as pastor of the Church of God.

Miss Nina Cameron and Miss Alice Sarah spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Mary McKee at Falls Creek.

William McKellup, of Horatio, was shaking hands with old friends here Sunday.

Grant Allen and James Beveridge went to New Kensington last week.

John Proud, Sr., and son, William, was at Clarion mines last Saturday.

A. L. Keagle and wife visited at Walston last Thursday.

The professional kicker has no apparent license to live and many people wonder why he cares to live. His existence is one of the inexplicable mysteries of providence.
